

Team JaCKfruiT Contract

Introductory Information

- Team JaCKFruiT
- Project: PonoHealth Providers
- Team Members: Liam (Kula) Van Asperen, Jakapop Khongnawang, Chad Maeshiro, Taitusi Vadei

Selected individual goals that the team had decided to achieve after the completion of the project:

- To make a nice web app that I can be proud of I worked on with a team as a leader.
- To apply what I learned through WODs, screencasts, and readings from this ICS class.
- A successful web application for real-world use.
- Strengthen my experience with the technology stack we worked with this semester (React, Bootstrap 5, IntelliJ) while creating a useful application.

Individual skills that each member could provide to the selected project:

I'm a computer science major and I've learned many things during my time in ICS-314 that I feel be helpful in the development of the final project.	CS Major as well. Learned HTML in upper secondary and foundation levels.	A computer science major can bring some web development experience to the team.	I'm a computer science major as well, which can bring what I have learned throughout the years through trial and error

Possible time constraints and availability of each team member:

Barley any time constraints. Able to meet every day, and I plan to work on the project after I finish my main assignments for the day.	My free days are Mondays, Wednesdays, Friday mornings, and the weekends in the evening.	Available to meet on weekends and weekday evenings.	Unable to meet on the weekends in the morning, but free from Tuesday to Thursday

Best methods of communication and modes to meet each member:

Discord. Call me if it's an emergency. I don't care when I'm contacted as long as it's not during class time.	Discord is fine but I check my emails more regularly so send one if it's urgent.	Discord, 12 - evening.	Preferably on Discord
---	--	------------------------	-----------------------

From the given availability and modes of communication, the group mutually agreed to meet on Wednesdays and Thursdays on Discord for project management.
